So Many Museums, So Little Time: Creating Your Austin Museum Day Plan

Austin Museum Day is here, and it's time to plan your itinerary! But with so many great museums, how can you choose? Well, that depends... Will this be your first visit to an Austin museum? Or have you already seen a few museums and want to see more? Or maybe you really have seen them all? Whatever your situation, there's a plan for you!

If you've never visited an Austin museum, you may want to start with some of the larger and better-known institutions. Several museums are located on the University of Texas campus, including the Blanton Museum of Art, one of the largest university art museums in the United States; the LBJ Presidential Library which boasts a 3/4 scale replica of the oval office; and the Texas Memorial Museum featuring dinosaurs, wild-life exhibits, and more. Just across the street from the UT campus is the Bullock Texas State History Museum with three levels of Texas history exhibits. And located further north in the Mueller community, the Thinkery has 40,000 square feet of kid-friendly science and technology themed exhibits.

If you have visited those popular spots before, Museum Day is a great time to check out some smaller or lesser-known venues. In the mood for art? The MexicArte Museum, located in the heart of downtown, is the Official Mexican and Mexican American Fine Art Museum of Texas, and Women & Their Work Gallery exhibits and sells contemporary art by Texas women. Austin music history is on display at the South Austin

Museum of Popular Culture, featuring a collection of vintage posters and artifacts from the live music scene. And the Texas Military Forces Museum at Camp Mabry is a must-see for military buffs.

In addition to these museums and galleries, Austin Museum Day also includes historic houses, public art, and outdoor venues. Some of the many historic buildings you can visit are the Joseph and Susanna Dickinson Hannigan Museum, once the home of an Alamo survivor; the Elisabet Ney Museum, former home and studio of the German-Texan sculptress; and the kid-friendly Capitol Visitors Center, housed in the historic General Land Office Building. If you prefer the outdoors, you can explore the trails at the Lady Bird Johnson Wildflower Center or the popular-with-children Pioneer Farms. Discover art outside at the Umlauf Museum & Sculpture Garden or take a public art tour with Landmarks on the UT campus.

But if you really have seen everything in Austin, then it's time for a day trip! Head west to the Science Mill in Johnson City, east to the Texas Wendish Heritage Museum in Giddings, or north to the Williamson Museum in Georgetown or its satellite location on the Chisholm Trail in Round Rock.

Wherever you go on Austin Museum Day, you are sure to discover something new! Share your experiences on Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter with the hashtags #atxmuseums and #museumday2018.

SHARE YOUR #MUSEUMDAY2018 MOMENTS IN THE INSTAGRAM PHOTO CONTEST

Participate in the Austin Museum Day Instagram contest for a chance to win great prizes! The contest is open 9am - 9pm on Sunday, September 23.

TO PLAY:

1. Follow @TxHistComm and @austinmuseums on Instagram
2. Take a photograph at one of the participating Austin Museum Day institutions
3. Post it to your Instagram (make sure your profile is public!)
4. Tag the participating institution and #MuseumDay2018

Multiple submissions are allowed. Contest closes at 9 p.m. on Sunday, September 23; submissions posted after 9 p.m. will not be included. A total of three winners - 1st through 3rd places - will be selected by a panel of judges that include staff from Texas Historical Commission and Austin Museum Partnership. Prizes to be announced. Winners will be announced the week following the contest.

ART

Austin is home to many different kinds of art museums, from those that showcase art and artifacts that have been around for centuries, to those that focus on art that is being made today.

ART GALLERIES AT BLACK STUDIES

201 E. 21st, Jester A232, 512/232-6609, www.galleriesatut.org/

Come explore the world through photography! Experience the artwork of American photographer Dawoud Bey and Kenyan photographer Mimi Cherono Ng'Ok at the Art Galleries at Black Studies. Visitors will engage with our dynamic exhibitions and participate in hands-on activities inspired by the art.

NOON-5PM

BLANTON MUSEUM OF ART

200 E. MLK Jr. Blvd., 512/232-6389, www.blantonmuseum.org

All ages are invited to look, talk, and create as part of Austin Museum Day. Experience the challenge of an Art Quest at the Blanton, as you enjoy navigating our permanent collection galleries, as well as new installations in our Film and Video and Paper Vault galleries. Activities from 1-4pm.

1-5PM

CITY OF AUSTIN CULTURAL ARTS DIVISION

710 W. Cesar Chavez St., 512/974-7700, www.austincreates.com

All are invited to explore "Wander" – a public artwork that offers an immersive, digital choose-your-own-adventure experience throughout downtown Austin. The work comprises a mobile web app with four digital journeys available in English and Spanish. Start your adventure at "Wander's" sculptural starting point, entitled "Beacon," sited at the entrance of Austin's new Central Library. Artist Chris Gannon will be on hand to showcase the work at 2pm!

ALL DAY!

CREATIVE ACTION

2921-B E. 17th, 512/442-8773, www.creativeaction.org

Community Art Sunday is a celebration of community through free arts workshops, performances, live music and interactive learning experiences for all ages at Creative Action. With support from sponsors and community partners, this event will be filled with art-making, dancing, and fun for all.

2-5PM

DOUGHERTY ARTS CENTER

1110 Barton Springs Rd., 512/974-4000, www.austintexas.gov/dac

Create a one-of-a-kind abstract work of art inspired by our exhibits. Take a moment to imagine what it would be like to have synesthesia and see sound in the form of colors. Be inspired by the music in the galleries and let what you hear guide your collage creation.

NOON-4PM

ELISABET NEY MUSEUM

304 E. 44th, 512/974-1625, www.austintexas.gov/Elisabetney

The Elisabet Ney Museum will present Portraiture in the Park: Who are you anyway? At this family event, visitors will explore the meaning of Portraiture through experimentation with different media, styles, and definitions... just think outside the box! There will also be tours of Elisabet Ney's studio, demonstrations, performances and food vendors on site.

NOON-5PM

LANDMARKS

2616 Wichita St., 512/232-5904, www.landmarks.utexas.edu

Cool off with Steel City Pops and join Landmarks for a 30-minute mini tour of the public art collection at The University of Texas at Austin. Through guided observation, discussion, and exploration, Landmarks encourages viewers to #seeallsides. Tours leave every half hour from the east steps of the Perry-Castañeda Library (101 E. 21st).

NOON-2PM

MEXIC-ARTE MUSEUM

419 Congress Ave., 512/200-7269, www.mexic-artemuseum.org

Join Mexic-Arte Museum this year for a celebration of life through Alebrijes! In conjunction with the annual community altars exhibit, the Museum will offer hands-on art activities and other family programs to celebrate Alebrijes as seen on popular children's movie Coco. The art activity offered will teach children about the images and history of the Day of the Dead celebration in Mexico and the United States. Visitors will make a project that they can use in MexicArte's annual Day of the Dead Parade, "VIVA LA VIDA," which takes place on Saturday, October 27.

1-4PM
