HEALTH ALLIANCE FOR AUSTIN MUSICIANS

Keeping Music in Austin Alive & Well

Dear Austin Music Lovers,

Like many of you, I can't imagine Austin without its live music scene. But did you know, most of the musicians we all love and enjoy, including symphony members who accompany Ballet Austin and the Austin Opera, barely earn enough to pay their monthly bills? Our local musicians are so passionate about their music, they choose to do whatever it takes to make ends meet just to keep playing. Unfortunately for them, healthcare is often a secondary priority when trying to pay for basic needs like groceries and rent.

As Austin continues to grow and more people move here, it's becoming increasingly difficult for many of our musicians to continue performing. Austin's cost of living is on the rise, and I would hate for our community to look back in 20 years and realize most musicians have moved away. Simply put - musicians help to weave the unique and diverse fabric of our city.

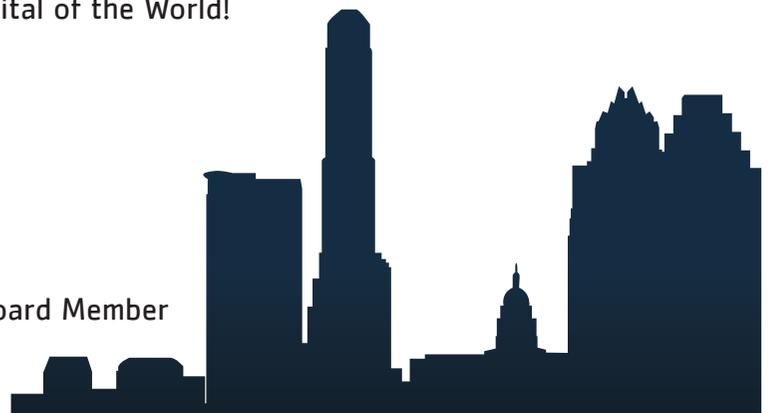

Each year, HAAM Day brings all of Austin together to sing praise for keeping our musicians alive and healthy. Austin businesses and music venues host more than 200 live musical performances citywide and donate to support HAAM. As our biggest annual fundraiser, funds raised on HAAM Day are crucial to ensuring that local musicians continue to receive primary medical, dental, vision, hearing, and mental health services through HAAM and our affiliate service providers.

It is our responsibility as a community to give back to our local talents and show them the support they need and deserve.

Please join me at participating locations on Tuesday, September 24th and help us reach our goal of raising more than $610,000. Together, we can ensure Austin continues to be the Live Music Capital of the World!

Sincerely,

Olga Campos Benz
HAAM Day Committee Chair and Board Member

St David's FOUNDATION

SINCERE THANKS

Sincere thanks to the St. David's Foundation for their continued support of HAAM by providing much-needed funding toward our dental program.

HAAM is a uniquely Austin nonprofit, supporting the cultural arts as well as working as a safety net provider. Through unique collaborations, HAAM has provided over $57 million in healthcare services. The millions of dollars in healthcare services provided each year are a direct result of HAAM's partnerships with its affiliate service providers. Without their continued commitment, HAAM would be unable to survive as an organization.

HAAM Saves Musicians' Careers: Red Young's Story

World-class musician, performer, writer and arranger, Red Young, is a prime example of how HAAM helps keep music in Austin alive and well. Since relocating to Austin from Los Angeles, Red, who has shared the stage with the likes of Willie Nelson and Dolly Parton, has invigorated Austin's live music scene with his signature voice.

Red understands why organizations like HAAM matter and the importance of HAAM Day to local musicians. Eight years ago, he contracted a deadly virus that landed him in an Ascension Seton hospital for six days. With HAAM by his side, he got the medical care he needed to survive.

Despite what might seem like a glamorous life, most Austin musicians work multiple jobs and still barely make ends meet. Most can't afford a medical

"Sadly, Red's story, is an all too common one for musicians. Despite a long and successful music career, like most working musicians, he doesn't make the kind of money you might think and needs help accessing affordable healthcare. Help HAAM provide a lifeline to thousands of Austin musicians by celebrating HAAM Day with us on September 24 at your favorite venue."

– Olga Campos-Benz, HAAM Day Committee Chair and Board Member

emergency like Red's, much less an annual check-up or cleaning at the dentist.

That's where HAAM comes in. HAAM makes sure that Austin musicians have access to affordable healthcare services through their network of healthcare organizations and providers across the city.

In recent years, Red began experiencing severe dental issues that were compromising his singing, specifically his diction. Although HAAM members receive an annual $600 dental benefit through HAAM's partnership with St. David's Foundation and the Capital Area Dental Foundation, Red needed thousands of dollars in dental implants to save his voice and his career.

Red Young

When board-certified oral surgeon and music lover, Matthew Largent, MD, DDS, found out that the condition of Red's teeth were threatening his voice, he immediately wanted to help.

"I'm a huge fan of Red's and a musician myself," said Dr. Largent, a volunteer with the Capital Area Dental Foundation and partner with Oral Surgery Specialists of Austin. "When I heard that his teeth were causing him to lose this incredible gift to our community, I knew I had to get involved and help."

With support from HAAM and the Capital Area

"As an Austin musician, I realize how lucky I am to have access to an organization like HAAM. If I was still Los Angeles, I wouldn't have this kind of healthcare. More U.S. cities need to emulate what HAAM has done. It's a security blanket we are lucky to have."

– Red Young

Five Fast Facts about HAAM:

- The average HAAM member makes approximately $20,000 per year.
- Since 2005, HAAM has helped over 5,300 musicians access more than $57 million dollars in healthcare services, including medical coverage, mental, dental, hearing and vision care and wellness benefits.
- Last year, HAAM served as a lifeline to over 2,600 musicians, from up-and-coming artists to established, award-winning musicians.
- Live music contributes over $2 billion in economic revenue in the City of Austin each year.
- Every dollar you donate on HAAM Day will generate $7 in healthcare services for HAAM members.

Dental Foundation, Dr. Largent rallied several other local providers who love music and wanted to help Red in a big way. These included Nobel Biocare, who donated the implants and Dr. Kendal Shipp of Shipp Family Dentistry, who along with Star Dental Lab, immediately restored the implants placed by Dr. Largent during the six hour surgery.

While Red is still healing from the surgery, he has already been able to reestablish the phonetics of his voice. The surgery has also enhanced Red's appearance and confidence to sing. Dr. Largent has no doubt that Red will soon be back to wooing audiences with his unforgettable singing voice.

Red's story underscores not only the need for organizations like HAAM, but also the passion local dentists, physicians and other healthcare providers have for Austin's musicians.

"We are lucky enough to work with people like Dr. Largent, who understand and genuinely appreciate just how important Austin's musicians are to our cultural identity and economy," said Collins.

Red's case and the scope of care donated to him is atypical for HAAM.

"We know the need is great, but right now we don't have the resources to provide this level of care to all of our members," said Collins "Down the road, with expanded funding and partnerships, we hope to be able to provide this level of care to even more musicians."

Red is deeply grateful to HAAM and its partners like the Capital Area Dental Foundation. "I hope that people take away from my story the vital importance of what HAAM does for Austin's musicians and how getting out on HAAM Day to support their work really saves lives."
